fucking whiners

Comments, concerns, or complaints about the Getaway's content or operations will inevitably fall on deaf ears. We attempt to hold up the fiction that we care, when really we ridicule you all mercilessly—even in our dreams. Also, this is all obviously fake. Though we do have a cure for cancer. Really.

libel & slander

The common law origins of defamation lie in the torts of slander (harmful statement in a transitory form, especially speech) and libel (harmful statement in a fixed medium, especially writing but also a picture, sign, or electronic broadcast), each of which gives a common law right of action. (Thanks, Wikipedia.)

playas & hatas

Opinions expressed in the pages of the Getaway are expressly those of the author, even if they happen to be a hard-nosed police detective thrown in with a bunch of adorable schoolchildren. These poorly-written opinions do not necessarily reflect those of the Getaway or the Getaway Student Off-Shore Tax Shelter, as we prefer to express ourselves through exaggerated grunts and feces-throwing.

Additionally, the opinions expressed in advertisements appearing in the Getaway are those of the advertisers. Although, let us be honest here, we'd take their money no matter what they'd say. We're the kind of folks who'd suck cock on Christmas for a cookie.

The Getaway is created using blood, tears and semen, drawn from babies and lambs. Fueled by rage and cheap whiskey, the paper has recently forgone all photographs, for fears that our souls will be stolen by the devil machine. Layout is done by actually laying about, eating chips. The collection of self-important whining and cock jokes that we call a newspaper is turned into PDF (pronounced "la-MIN-ate") files which are burned directly to dinner plates by the hand of the Almighty Rod Fraser himself. Text is set in a variety of sizes, flavours, and reincarnations of FENCES, Joan of Arc, Kelp and A White, Creamy Filling. The Man-named-Toban is the Getaway's hot step-sister-that-we-totally-want-to-bang. And we'd love her dearly, if you get what I mean? Huh? Yeah? Yeah, you do. Fuckin' perv. The Getaway's has no time for playing games, as we are too busy Drinking the Blood of Our Enemies and Doing Needlepoint.

Because of the impending financial windfall that the research represents, Fox was hesitant to describe exactly how they collect anti-cancer, but he did indicate it was a common byproduct of a failed soda flavouring.
"We bought like ten pallets of it for a party three years ago, and no one drank the stuff," Fox explained. "Who would have thought that putting vanilla in cola would ever amount to anything?"
However, despite the far-reaching social and fiscal upsides to the discovery, there has been some strong opposition from student lobby groups.

"I can't believe they continue to ignore the rising educational costs at this university. It has become unaffordable to obtain a degree from Rod Fraser University, and curing some old person's disease really has no affect on today's students," SU Vice-President (excremental) Slave Cornflakes whined. "Until the tuition debate is resolved in students' favour, any expenditures by the Administration to the contrary are a waste of resources."

RAAWWWRRRRRRRRRRRRR.....

My brain's the size of a peanut.

We need a comprehensive strategy to reduce the greenhouse gas intensity of the U of A economy by 18 per cent by 2020. Greenhouse gas intensity measures the ratio of emissions to economic output. Meeting this commitment will prevent the release of more than 100 million metric tons of carbon-equivalent emissions to the atmosphere [annually].
