colophon

The Gateway is created using Macintosh computers, HP Scanjet flatbed scanners, and a Nikon Super Cool Scan optical film scanner. Adobe InDesign is used for layout. Adobe Illustrator is used for vector images, while Adobe Photoshop is used for raster images. Adobe Acrobat is used to create PDF files which are burned directly to plates to be mounted on the printing press. Text is set in a variety of sizes, styles, and weights of FENICE, Joanna, Kepler and Whitney. The Manitoban is the Gateway's sister paper, and we love her dearly, though "not in that way." The Gateway's games of choice are Apples to Apples and Mind Games.

SO, FENESTRATION?

At midnight on 4 September, a pair of Lister residents were spotted trying to enter the building by crawling through a window. The pair were let off a warning.

WORSE THAN THOSE PESKY BIKE COURIERS

At 3pm on 3 September, a vehicle was seen driving on the sidewalk at 88 Avenue and 114 Street. Upon pulling the vehicle over, Campus Security found that the male driver had a warrant out for his arrest. EPS was contacted, the driver was charged, and was given three tickets for the sidewalk shenanigans.

SPACE CASE STRIKES AGAIN

At 2pm on 3 September, a 50-year-old male was bothering people and acting suspiciously in Quad. Campus Security arrived on scene and found a familiar fellow that had been previously given the boot. He claimed to be an astronaut, and when asked if he drove to campus, replied, "In a car?" He was once again shown the proverbial door.

IT'S A SIGN

During a routine pull-over at 6am on 2 September, constables discovered that the two male occupants of the vehicle were in possession of several traffic signs stolen from around campus. The two were arrested for possession of stolen property, and the driver of the vehicle—a current student—was given a 24-hour driving suspension. EPS are investigating.

THAT'S, LIKE, META

On 1 September, a student called Campus 5-0 to report the theft of an iPod and keys from Lister Hall. Later that afternoon, the student phoned back to report that another floor resident had taken the items for safekeeping, fearing they would be stolen.

SOMEBODY WAS GROUCHY

Also on 1 September, Campus Security was contacted about an assault at 112 Street and 87 Avenue. One male was crossing the street when a vehicle approached. The driver exited the car and proceeded to push the pedestrian into a garbage container. The suspect then fled the area. EPS is investigating.

SO, JAY-PASSING?

On 30 August at around 2am, it was reported to Campus Security that a male was sleeping on a heating grate near the Materials Management building. Officers attended the area and the male was advised to leave campus. The male was seen a short time later in the area of HUB, at which point the campus boundaries were explained again, and he was directed to leave. The male was subsequently arrested for failing to provide his name to a peace officer following a jaywalking offence. He was found to be in the possession of tools and small amount of cocaine. The male refused to identify himself to CSS and police who later attended to take him into custody. After confirming his identity, he was charged with trespassing and two charges of failing to identify himself to a peace officer.

RYAN HEISE

SURE THEY'RE HAPPY NOW But come midterms, Quad revelry will be rare.

STREETERS

Students returned to classes yesterday, taking in riveting lectures of ECON 101 and STATS 141. What course do you think the U of A should offer that it doesn't?

Rachel Hofman
Environmental Conservation IV

David Pincock
Biological Sciences IV

Sal Habibi
Science I

Lam Tran
Pharmacy I

I think it should offer one about the sexual habits of insects and invertebrates. I think that it is such a fascinating world out there, and there are so many insects and so many invertebrates, and we don't know very much about them. I am sure they have fantastic sexual lifestyles.

I think more junior level nanotechnology courses and more adventurous courses like whitewater kayaking and scuba diving. Or just an adventure course period.

Maybe some Persian courses.

I know there are some human sexuality courses but ... just at a basic level, so maybe if they had more of that kind of stuff. More performative, more higher level things. There are a lot of classes that are interesting, but they only hit the surface. If they went deeper they might bring more interest to students.
