THE GETAWAY is published by a haphazard group of socially awkward troglodytes who make cock jokes to compensate for their lack of sexual maturity. Also, tits.

THE GETAWAY is proud to drag the rest of you assholes down to our level.

drinks

noun. Liquids that can be swallowed as refreshment or nourishment. ORIGIN Old English drincan (verb), drinc (noun), of Germanic origin; related to Dutch drinken and German trinken. Thanks widget dictionary.

dessert

Not "desert." Dessert. The kind you eat, not wander around in for indeterminate amounts of time. Seriously, is it that hard to learn the distinction? And more importantly, are you going to order anything, or what? 'Cause if you aren't, then I'm going to have to ask you to make room for the next group.

aperitifs

Alright, so technically, aperitifs should come before meal, but work with us here. But who are you kidding? You've been drinking since 10am, you fucking lush. Try to sober up enough to finish your food at least, fatty.

Additionally, the menu items expressed here are those of our chefs, and do no way reflect my personal tastes. I'm more of a Po' Boy and fries guy myself. Have you tried DaDeO's? They've got the best sweet potato fries this side of the Delta—though Dewey's aren't too shabby either. And while I'm on it, how are you supposed to make a plural possessive out of Dewey's? Yet another glaring oversight on the part of our Students' Union.

ingredients

The Getaway was created using computrons, automatic, and the blood, sweat, and tears of thousands of Oompa-Loompas. Hey, don't look at us—they were practically begging for it when they walked off the job at the chocolate factory. Oregon Trail was used for pioneering. Number Munchers was used for number-munching, while Word Munchers was used for word-munching—perhaps not altogether surprisingly, come to think of it. Our inspiration came in spurts of EXCITEMENT! Intrigue! Danger! and Suspense! The CRO is in our base, and we'll eventually take over the third floor, though he doesn't know it yet. The Gateway's babes of choice are Pink Bra Strap Girl and that mechanic chic from Firefly.

things that offend us

Racism, sexism, sexual harassment, assault, salt, the monarchy, wrestlers, "Moist," birds that talk, crosswalks, French accents, the word 'cunt' (as everyone should), periods, "David" Usher, reading aloud, breather her personal air supply, dead kittens, feeding dead kittens to cattle, orphans, Dyke's raspberry breath, spontaneous combustion, the industrial revolution, chimney sweeps, puns, turbo puns, the letter 'Zee,' FDR, architects, the smallest paper, non-fitted hats, fluctuating weather patterns, Norman's left nipple, squirrel orgies, French-English dictionaries, bears that aren't bird-bears, diseases, Schindler's list (the list, not the movie), this list.

HOLY LAND, BATMAN!

In 1774 at approximately 1:53pm, Russian protectors of the faith were called in to the Ottoman Empire after reports of a disturbance by the French. Napoleon III, the French commander, then became combative, eventually winning out the day against those rogues.

SEVASTOPOL SIEGED!

In September 1854 at approximately 6:02am, the Tsar's Black Sea Fleet was roused by gunfire from the naval cannons of Allied ships. The disturbance would continue for another year until the Ukrainian port city was finally captured. The suspects are described as being "Russian."

BALTIC THEATRE UPSTAGED!

Sometime during 1885, Russian dockyards near Helsinki were bombarded by ships of the Western Allied Baltic Fleet. The city's heavily defended harbour entrance withstood the attack, but as of press time, key Russian trade routes were still being blockaded.

THE STRAIT GOODS ON GENITCHI

Also in 1885, British forces were caught attempting to sabotage the Russians' floating pontoon bridge, which was supplying their troops in Sevastopol. The British commanders, who were rambling incoherently about four-oar gigs and paddle-box steamers, were presumed to be intoxicated and subsequently escorted off the peninsula.

COULD YOU BE MORE PACIFIC?

From 1884-5, British and French squadrons besieged a small Russian force way the frick out on the Kamchatka Peninsula—technically outside the jurisdiction of Allied authorities. Local enforcement there said casualties were heavy, but failed to pin down an exact number.

THOSE PESKY ITALIANS

Later that year, Italian forces were seen loitering with French and British ne'er-do-wells in a Piedmontese back-alley, but dispersed when authorities arrived. These groups were later seen congregating at a peace conference, but were determined not to be a major naval threat and were released from custody.

SULTANS OF BLING

On approximately 1840, Abdulmecid I, Sultan of the Ottoman Empire, was detained at the border with a large amount of paper banknotes in his possession. Upon closer investigation, it was found that he had in fact made them up himself. Also discovered on his person were large quantities of jewelry and French crowns, none of which could be accounted for. Abdulmecid was detained for questioning until his father, Mahmud II, came and picked him up, saying it was all just one big misunderstanding.

TSAR YOU KIDDING ME?

In 1885, Tsar Nicholas I of Russia was caught near the river Danube expanding his kingdom's borders. Authorities say he had been lying to the British about the matter under the pretense of protecting the Christian faith. He was later released with a summons.

“ He's finally fucking lost it.

COUNCIL SHINING

Written by Norman Clouturé

Students' Council meets every second Tuesday in the Council Chambers in University Hall at 6pm. Council meetings are open to all students, though why waste your time? Seriously, all I do is contemplate suicide, which I then dull by drinking wine out of a coffee mug. Sometimes I stare vacantly, longingly, wishing for a simpler time, when superfluous debate didn't take up my Tuesday nights. Also, no food, et cetera.

HEEEEEEEERE'S JANZIE!

NO FOOD AND NO DEBATE MAKES MIKEY A DULL BOY. NO FOOD AND NO DEBATE MAKES MIKEY A DULL BOY.

MIKEY A DULL BOY. NO FOOD AND NO DEBATE MAKES MIKEY A DULL BOY.

STREET CARS

As you may be aware, you're required to transport people from all walks of life.
